

Society of Architectural Historians Announces 2018 Class of Fellows

February 13, 2018 — The Society of Architectural Historians is pleased to announce the 2018 class of SAH Fellows. Eve Blau, Swati Chattopadhyay, Kenneth Frampton and Henry H. Kuehn will be inducted as SAH Fellows at the Society's 71st Annual International Conference Awards Ceremony on April 20, in Saint Paul, Minnesota. SAH Fellows are individuals who have distinguished themselves by a lifetime of significant contributions to the field of architectural history, which may include scholarship, service to SAH or stewardship of the built environment. Visit sah.org/fellows for more information and a list of past SAH Fellows.

Eve Blau is adjunct professor of the history of urban form at the Harvard University Graduate School of Design. Her research engages a range of issues in urban and architectural history and theory and the productive intersection of urbanism and media. Her books include Baku: Oil and Urbanism (2018); The Architecture of Red Vienna 1919–1934/ Rotes Wien: Architektur 1919–1934. Stadt-Raum-Politik (1999/2014); Project Zagreb: Transition as Condition, Strategy, Practice (2007); Urban Form. Städtebau in der postfordistischen Gesellschaft (2003); Shaping the Great City: Modern Architecture in Central Europe (2000); Architecture and Cubism (2001/1997); and Architecture and Its Image: Four Centuries of Architectural Representation (1989). She is co-principal investigator of the Harvard Mellon Urban Initiative, Reconceptualizing the Urban: Interdisciplinary Study of Urban Environments, Societies, and Cultures, (2013–2018). Her books have received several awards, including SAH's Alice Davis Hitchcock Book Award, Spiro Kostof Book Award, and Philip Johnson Exhibition Catalogue Award; the Austrian Cultural Institute Prize; and the AIA Citation for Excellence in International Architectural Book Publishing. In 2015 Blau received the Victor Adler-State Prize of the Republic of Austria in recognition of her innovative scholarship and contributions to the history of social movements. Before Harvard, Blau was curator of exhibitions and publications at the Canadian Centre for Architecture in Montréal, and editor of the Journal of the Society of Architectural Historians. She is president of the board of directors of the American Friends of the Canadian Centre for Architecture, Montréal, and past vice president of the International Scholarly Advisory Board of the IFK Internationales Forschungszentrum Kulturwissenschaften, Vienna.

Swati Chattopadhyay is professor in the Department of History of Art and Architecture and the Comparative Literature Program at the University of California, Santa Barbara. An architect and architectural historian, she has written widely on modern architecture and urbanism, infrastructure, popular culture and subalternity, and the British Empire. She is the author of Representing Calcutta: Modernity, Nationalism, and the Colonial Uncanny (Routledge, 2005); Unlearning the City: Infrastructure in a New Optical Field (Minnesota, 2012); and coeditor with Jeremy White of two volumes, City Halls and Civic Materialism: Towards a Global History of Urban Public Space (Routledge, 2014) and Critical Approaches to Contemporary Architecture (Routledge, 2018, forthcoming). Her fellowships and awards include a Guggenheim Fellowship; a Swedish Collegium for Advanced Study Fellowship; a Birkbeck Institute for the Humanities Fellowship,

